4 Cars Crash In Route 164 Mishap

Four cars piled up in a chain collision on Route 164, just north of Columbiana, at 2:30 p.m. Monday, when a Youngstown motorist stopped to make a left turn.

Drivers involved were Frank B. Turney, 71, of Youngstown, Donald Tharp, 27, of Leetonia, William Oeler, 27, of Columbiana and Harry Parker, 24, of Youngstown.

State Highway patrolmen said Turney was stopped waiting for approaching traffic to pass when the Tharp auto struck him. Oeler in turn ran into the rear of Tharp and the Parker car struck the rear of Oeler's vehicle.

Considerable damage was done to all four vehicles, patrolmen declared. Oeler and Parker were cited for failing to stop in the assumed clear distance.

4th St. School Chimney Repairs To Be Made

Harry Pelton's low bid of $2,270 was accepted by the Board of Education last night to cut off the brick bells atop the two each chimneys on Fourth St. School and top the chimneys with a reinforced concrete slab.

Four other bids were received on the project. Pelton expects to begin work July 1 and have the chimneys repaired before the fall term of school opens.

The bell-shaped tops of the chimneys are cracked and extend over the school playground, which has been fenced off to keep children away should any of the bricks fall before repairs can be made.

Move To End McCarthy-Army Hearings Soon Gains Support

Geneva Talks Progress, Laniel Tells Officials

GENEVA (AP) — French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said today some progress has been realized at the Indochina peace conference and "the results achieved show us the path to future agreement."

Await Molotov Talk

The French foreign minister led off the semi-public debate of the nine-party parley, which awaited a major policy declaration by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov later in the day. British foreign secretary Anthony Eden also planned to speak.

Bidault's speech was primarily a review of the proceedings to date. He acknowledged that all major issues remained unsettled, but expressed hope that solutions might soon be in sight.

Representatives of the six non-Communist participants in the Indochina talks—Britain, France, the United States, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—met this morning to map out strategy in advance of Molotov's speech.

Graham "Pat" Kearney's resignation was accepted Monday night after he wrote council he was resigning because of out-of-town business engagements.

"Due to the recent agreement for the sale of foundry coke . . . I will not be able to devote the time necessary to properly fill the position of councilman," the coal dealer said.

The resignation of Francis Clunk was accepted at an earlier meeting following the defeat of his proposed sewer rental fee plan. Council, however, later adopted the plan after his resignation.

The agreement on the bonds was reached by four councilmen and the Hayden, Miller Co. of Cleveland, fiscal agents.

Dana F. Baxter, the bond company's representative in charge of the municipal bond department, presented the plan.

The decision took council one step closer to making the $375,000 sewage treatment plant, to be located east of town, a reality.

The mortgage revenue bonds will be sold at an interest rate of 3 1/4 per cent. Their sale was declared an emergency measure for the "preservation of health, safety, and welfare" of individuals in the community.

Council agreed to accept bids for a new police cruiser to replace the 1953 sedan now in operation.

The present car has piled up 39,000 miles in little more than a year, Mayor Wilbur Warren said. He stated the cruiser is not in good enough condition to allow police to do a satisfactory job of catching speedsters and other traffic violators.

Forty fire calls in the village and in Elk Run and Center Townships have been answered by the volunteer firemen in the past seven months, Ralph Rose, department secretary reported.

He said 17 firemen, who are paid $2 an hour, spent a total of 800 hours fighting fires since last Nov. 15.

Pre-Trials Held In 30 Civil Cases Monday

LISBON — Pre-trials were held in 30 civil cases by Common Pleas Judge Joe H. Sharp and visiting Judge Frank Cope of Carrollton Monday.

Eighteen cases were disposed of, seven were found not at issue and five will be assigned for jury trial. This is the third pre-trial assignment since May 10.

The board agreed to purchase sewer pipe for a part of the eastern boundary of the Prospect School playground which the city service department will install to drain water off the field during heavy rains.

Neighbors have complained that the surface water run-off from the playground is doing considerable damage to their property.

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr was granted permission to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Association of School Administrators at Cedar Point, June 21-23.

Laniel's Shaky Rule May Fall

Government Attacked On Conduct Of War

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel's foes returned to the National Assembly attack on his Indochina war policy today amid signs the shaky French government may finally be forced out of office.

The Indochina debate, which began listlessly last week with the usual assaults from the Socialists and Communists, was expected to warm up today when members of parties in Laniel's own majority open fire on his conduct of the war. Several leaders from these groups have asked to speak.

Debate on the explosive issue is not expected to reach the crucial stage until tomorrow. Foreign Minister George Bidault, on whom Laniel apparently is counting to turn the tide in his favor, will return from the Geneva conference to speak.

Bidault waited over in the Swiss capital to hear Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's policy speech to the Indochina conference today. Western observers in Geneva generally believed the Russian had scheduled his statement at this time in an effort to influence the National Assembly action.

It was generally agreed that Laniel, who twice in the past month had to call for votes of confidence that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer can present written—but not oral—arguments for study by the commission when it reviews his security case.

Oppenheimer Allowed Only Written Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer can present written—but not oral—arguments for study by the commission when it reviews his security case.

A special AEC board last week ruled that Oppenheimer, pioneer atomic researcher, is a "loyal citizen" but, by a 2-1 vote, held he is a security risk who must be barred from further access to nuclear secrets.

Oppenheimer had asked permission to present both written and oral arguments for the AEC review. The AEC last night officially confirmed earlier reports that orally written arguments would be allowed.

Soviet Claims New Sheet Iron Process

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda claimed today Soviet inventors have developed successfully and put into mass production machinery for producing sheet iron more economically and efficiently than it is produced in the West.

The paper said the new Soviet process makes sheet iron—a product widely used for roofing—directly from molten pig iron without first casting the iron into ingots.

Pravda claimed that the Russian metallurgical industry has installed the new equipment in 38 plants and is in the process of installing it in 57 others. As a result, Pravda said, sheet iron production will be four times as great as in 1952-53. (There are no statistics on sheet iron production in the Soviet Union for any recent years so the present rate of output cannot be estimated.)

Many fish and other animals in the sea are attracted by light, says the National Geographic Society.

Ask Ouster of Negroes From Dallas Area

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—An alderman of one of Dallas Park Cities, fashionable municipalities surrounded by Greater Dallas, has suggested dismissal of all Negro servants with children in the area.

Alderman C. K. Bullard said last night at a meeting of the Highland Park Town Council that his plan would insure no Negro students in the municipalities' schools in the next few years.

Bullard brought up the question of segregation—banned by a U.S. Supreme Court decision several days ago—after a private conversation he said he had with Mayor Roy C. Coffee of University Park and Franklin Spafford, president of the Dallas Bar Assn. and a trustee of the Dallas School Board.

Bullard quoted Spafford as saying this was the last year the bulging Dallas independent school district could accept Negro children from the Park Cities. The $10 monthly tuition for each of the Negro children has been paid by the Highland Park Independent School District.

Aldermen, discussing the situation, agreed that there might be as many as 25 Negro students living in Highland Park among the population of approximately 11,405.

The restricted area allows only Negroes who are members of servant families to live within its premises. They must live on the premises of people who hire them.

Another alderman suggested at the meeting that all Negroes be moved out of Highland Park, but a third contended that only the servants' employers could make them move.

Court Upholds Key Lobbying Act Clause

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld 5-3 the key registration section of the Federal Lobbying Act, but declined to rule now on its penalty provisions. Both had been declared unconstitutional by U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff here.

Chief Justice Warren delivered the court's decision.

Justice Douglas and Jackson wrote the dissenting opinions with Justice Black joining in that by Douglas. Justice Clark took no part.

The ruling was given on an appeal by the Justice Department from Holtzoff's finding, which the government said had the effect of knocking out the entire act.

The lobbying law requires the registration and filing of financial reports with Congress by persons who try to influence the passage or defeat of legislation.

Penalty provisions include a fine, imprisonment, or both—plus a ban for three years from further lobbying activities.

General Urged To Give Up Surrender Paper

LONDON (AP)—Britains Imperial War Museum prodded Field Marshal Lord Montgomery informally today to give it one of the nation's most historic World War II documents—the German surrender. Montgomery received at Luneburg May 4, 1945.

The crusty field marshal, now deputy NATO commander in Europe, disclosed Sunday in a D-Day broadcast that he has the original document. He said then he had been asked for it but it was "safely put away" with his private papers and he "never will part with it."

A. J. Charge, deputy director of the museum, told a reporter yesterday he didn't think Montgomery "actually means what he says," that he "may well decide it should be put into a national museum."

Natural Gas Is Losing Price Advantage Over Other Fuels

NEW YORK (AP) — There are signs that the laws of supply and demand are catching up with the natural gas industry, which has grown at a breath-taking pace in the last decade.

As a result, there are indications, in some parts of the country that natural gas is losing the price advantage it has held over competitive fuels.

N. C. McGowen, president of United Gas Corp., the nation's largest natural gas company, says it is possible that natural gas is "pricing itself out of some markets."

In many areas, especially in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern states, natural gas is coming into direct price competition with oil and coal, according to McGowen.

Gardiner Symonds, president of the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., one of the nation's largest pipeline operators, declares, "The gas industry will have to fight to keep its markets; its growth will have to come from growth of the country and from competing fuels."

Symonds takes the position that "gas should sell at a premium."

A sharp upturn in coal and oil prices after World War II had a lot to do with swinging other sections of the nation to natural gas from Texas and Louisiana.

Temporary postwar shortages of other fuels also spurred demand for gas, and the relatively small natural gas output in the Midwest and the Appalachian area fell behind local demands. The result was a big crop of transmission lines to draw on the gas fields of the southwest.

The constantly increasing demand for gas has raised prices at the well from around 5 cents a thousand cubic feet in 1943 to about twice that price.

The field price, however, is only part of the picture, as the principal cost of gas is in transportation and distribution.

Transportation costs have risen sharply, particularly for companies served by cross-country pipelines built at recent high prices. In general, gas is most expensive in cities which have just obtained it through new pipelines, and cheap-

U. S. Radar Network To Be Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil defense planners are assuming that radar networks will be extended during the next year to give this country at least an hour's advance warning of aerial attack.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration revealed this yesterday in releasing the assumptions on which it will base its planning during the coming 12 months.

With an hour's warning, CDA said, people in concentrated parts of target areas could be moved at least two miles toward the suburbs. While this would not eliminate casualties, the agency estimated "the casualty total would still be considerably less" than if no dispersal were attempted.

It also is assuming "that any city attacked, with very few exceptions, would be substantially destroyed."

FCDA emphasized that the assumptions, prepared periodically to aid planning, "do not predict such an attack." The assumptions are based on known or estimated Russian capabilities.

Chaplain Honored By Fellow Prisoners

PILSEN, Kan. (AP) — The Rev. Emil J. Kapaun, heroic Catholic chaplain who died in a wretched North Korean prison camp, was honored in his hometown church Sunday by his fellow prisoners of war.

A crucifix exquisitely carved by prisoners from a piece of oak firewood with a makeshift knife in the prison camp was presented to the St. John Church in this tiny town where Father Kapaun preached his first sermon.

Capt. Ralph Nardella, Paterson, N.J., presented a check for $8,300 from fellow prisoners of the chaplain.

Nardella told how the camp's inmates vowed to contribute a fund in Father Kapaun's honor after he died of dysentery and pneumonia May 6, 1951, at the age of 35.

36 Drivers Rescued From Late Blizzard

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — About three dozen motorists were rescued early Monday from a summer blizzard which trapped their cars on trail ridge road high in Rocky Mountain National Park.

District Ranger Edward J. Kirk of the National Park Service said it was necessary, however, to leave seven to nine cars stalled in two-to-three-foot drifts.

Their occupants doubled up with travelers in the last four or five cars escorted down from the 12,000-foot level by rescuers using snowplows.

"I'm pretty sure we got everyone out," Kirk said. "No one was left on the road, but you couldn't see more than a few feet. It's still snowing and blowing hard up there and visibility is practically zero."

He outlined that city's retail problems and what was being done to solve them.

The monthly Chamber of Commerce meeting will be held at the Lape Hotel next Monday with Ted Niemi of WKBN-TV of Youngstown as speaker.

Korean Solon Charged With Murder Freed

SEOUL (AP) — A South Korean national assemblyman accused of attempted murder was released from prison today so he can sit in the new Assembly which opens tomorrow.

The Seoul district judge ruled the prosecution can investigate police accusations against Kim To Han, an independent assemblyman, without his detention.

Kim, 36, is accused of attempting murder when he fired a pistol in a quarrel with a business rival.

Job Prospects For Graduates

An oddity of the great job hunt by high school and college graduates is that the prospects always are good for the best prospects, even when jobs seem scarce.

For many years, a qualified graduate of an engineering school, for example, has been able to write his own ticket; jobs have been hunting him.

A Northwestern University placement department study has revealed that 216 companies intend to employ 12,063 men from the college classes of 1954—or 460 more than they hired from the class of 1953. Most of the increase is accounted for by demand for engineering graduates.

A college diploma in itself is no particular advantage in the job hunt. Personnel managers have learned to look behind the diploma at the grade of work which earned it and at the academic standard of the school which granted it.

The University of Maine has reported with institutional tongue in cheek that some seniors are having to hunt for jobs "for a variety of reasons — including indifference, low grades, vagueness of goal and excessive emphasis on pay checks."

Obviously, the same observation can be made about high school graduates looking for jobs. Those best qualified to share the burdens of their prospective employers have the best chance. As the nation's progress continues, the demand for manpower able to deal with its ever-mounting problems grows in direct proportion.

There is never a surplus of labor at the top, or in the group being trained to reach the top.

Ohio Will Miss The Water

Every Ohio community that ran out of its homegrown water supply last summer is an odds-on bet to have trouble again this year.

There will be many additions, moreover, to the 50-odd communities whose water supply had to be hauled in from the outside before the drought of 1953 finally yielded to winter rainfall.

A 1954 drought can be predicted regardless of how much rain falls during the summer because summer rainfall rarely adds anything to the vital underground supply. This must be built up during the period from October to April.

Paul Kaser, Ohio's hydrologist, has reported Ohio's moisture deficiencies for May. They are part of a picture of water trouble which has been getting gloomier for more than a year.

In Ohio as a whole, with some regional exceptions, the underground water supply simply has not been recharged rapidly enough to meet above-ground demands.

Even stream levels are dwindling, a fact with direct bearing on surface water supplies.

"More communities will have water shortages," predicts Kaser. "If a farmer's well went dry last year, it's a cinch it will go dry this year."

Any Ohioan who wilfully wastes water during the summer of 1954 is looking for a kind of trouble which will waylay several million Ohioans by Labor Day without any help from them.

Nurse Genevieve

No comparison can be made between Joan of Arc and Genevieve de Galardie Terraube, the French nurse who stood by her besieged countrymen until the enemy conquered the defenders of Dien Bien Phu. Yet, a comparison is being suggested by the obvious attempt of the French government to dramatize this modern heroine's service to her fellow men.

Nurse Genevieve's courage and devotion have appealed to French pride. She is a symbol of what many Frenchmen feel was salvaged from a military failure in Indochina — a renewed determination to recapture the flaming spirit that once was the secret of France's power.

She put her sense of duty to France above her personal safety in a crisis which might have caused her death and did cause her capture by a savage enemy.

She served her country, instead of herself.

This is something France has seen but rarely these last few years. Many Frenchmen have reacted from the news of the disaster at Dien Bien Phu with a new sense of determination.

France has been the victim of private and public cynicism. Patriotism has been considered a handicap instead of a virtue.

Nurse Genevieve may have done with her womanly devotion what no recent government has been able to do. She may have shamed Frenchmen into striving for unity instead of disunity.

Winds are produced by differences in atmospheric pressure and by asking a man about his golf score.

The modern young man doesn't care about leaving footprints on the sands of time. He wants to leave tire tracks.

Attlee's Trip To Enemy To Cause Bitterness In U.S.

LONDON

How readily the relations between Great Britain and the United States can be subjected to acute irritation when all the facts are not put in perspective is well illustrated by the blunt announcement that eight members of the British Labor party in Parliament, headed by the former prime minister Clement Attlee, have decided to go for a visit to Red China this summer.

If some of the minority leaders in Congress had suddenly decided during the summer of 1940, after Britain had been bombed, to go on a visit to Adolf Hitler, it can easily be imagined what the reaction inside Great Britain would have been.

Furthermore, if today some of the Democratic party leaders had decided to visit the Kremlin without having consulted the U.S. Department of State in advance and if the announcement had said the purpose was to discuss public policies with the Mo cow government, the British press would properly have hailed it as an unwarranted interference with the prerogatives of the American chief executive.

There would be even more criticism than there was few months ago when Sen. McCarthy undertook to persuade Greek ship owners to carry out the spirit of the American embargo on trade with Red China.

But while the announcement of Attlee's proposed visit has been adversely commented upon in some British newspapers, and while the Foreign Office has denied that it was consulted or that it approved of the mission, the fact remains that the British people as a whole are not at all exercised about the episode. Few persons really know how deeply the Attlee mission of Red China, who cannot but feel he is dealing with the British Labor party and possibly with the man who will head up the next British government.

It is, therefore, the function of a group of minority members of the national legislature to conduct the foreign policy of the British government and decide for themselves whether or not it is opportune to start their own conversations with Chou En-lai, the foreign minister of Red China, who cannot but feel he is dealing with the British Labor party and possibly with the man who will head up the next British government.

The American people may confidently expect that all this will be clarified before long.

For never in the heyday of his assertion of congressional powers in inquiring into international policy has been a certain Wisconsin senator suggested that he or his associates go abroad to deal directly with a foreign government, especially when his own government, as well as the United Nations, are still in a technical state of war with that aggressor government.

This is but another way of brushing off the Korean war itself, which seems never to have been convincingly presented in Britain as a war for an ideal — the repelling of aggression 8,000 miles away from home primarily by the forces of a country with no colonies in the Far East and with no commercial interests to defend.

There is no other logical explanation for the tendency in the British Parliament to forget so soon that Red China was declared an aggressor by formal resolution of the United Nations in February, 1951, and has done nothing since to atone for its sins before the world.

Americans cannot understand British willingness to take the blood-covered hand of the Red China government.

But it would be a mistake to say that the British government, and particularly its Foreign Office, is unaware of the American attitude. Had the Attlee mission come before the Cabinet for permission, which apparently it does not need to obtain, the answer would have been, "Not at this time."

Also, there are plenty of members of Parliament who say privately that the Attlee mission is a grave mistake and that he hopes America will understand it is not a policy of the British government or of the majority in Parliament or after all, Mr. Attlee and his associates — among them the fiery Aneurin Bevan — do not represent Britain but only themselves.

CLEMENT ATTLEE himself has a deep preoccupation on the matter of American policy in the Far East. He thinks the United States should

The Secret Oppenheimer Sessions

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Naturally the Oppenheimer case has caused a stir on all sides because nobody knows what the testimony is. All that has been given to the public is the report of the three-man panel.

When a congressional committee holds a public hearing, the public can, if it wants to, hear the evidence or read it in printed reports. If it is shown on television, millions can hear every word of it.

THIS TYPE OF secret hearing is not an improvement on the open congressional committee hearing. In the Oppenheimer case as in the Bunche case, in one of which there was partial exoneration and in one in which there was complete exoneration, the individual suffers in his reputation by the very secrecy of the examination.

Unless the testimony is available, the full meaning of the accusation or the defense is beclouded. Certainly the very nature of Anglo-Saxon justice requires an avoidance of Star Chamber proceedings.

In the case of Dr. Oppenheimer it may be said that as what is being discussed is the atom and hydrogen bombs, everything must be secret. Actually what is being considered is the reputation and life of a man — and that must be judged by his peers if justice is to prevail.

Criticism then should not be aimed at the panel which makes a correct distinction between loyalty and security, but against secret courts which can be a terrifying institution if permitted to develop in this country.

Let Father Alone

By TRUMAN TWILL

The country is whooping it up for Father's Day again, and there is something that should be understood about the sentimentality that goes with this event.

It is not the fathers of America who keep moaning and groaning about the way they are worked to death and kissed off a couple of times a year — Christmas, their Birthday and Father's Day — with the same knick-knack that will be charged to their account at the local Bon Ton Store.

This propaganda line is dreamed up by sentimentalists with bad consciences from the way they treated their own fathers in the past and are still treating them in the present.

In this matriarchal society, mothers get all the gravy and fathers get all the grief. It's no wonder bad consciences result from the way all the laws and customs are rigged in favor of motherhood. But that's the way it is.

Such persons need not be condemned; it is only necessary to keep them out of situations involving secrecy. Homosexuals are always poor security risks, but they need not be regarded as disloyal.

They realize that in some of the lower forms of matriarchy the female of the species eats the male after he has ceased to be of any further importance in the life cycle — and they are grateful.

They would rather be a father in the human race than be a formator in the life cycle of the animal kingdom.

In this patriarchal society, mothers get all the gravy and fathers get all the grief. It's no wonder bad consciences result from the way all the laws and customs are rigged in favor of motherhood. But that's the way it is.

Men who have attained and learned to live in a state of fatherhood do not mind the way they are shoved to the wall, reviled, abused, vilified, neglected and caricatured in moving pictures and TV shows.

It's part of the game of being a paternal parent. They knew what they were getting into when they made the fateful decision to be fruitful and multiply like fruit flies, and they have no squawk.

They never think of themselves as martyrs. They do not take umbrage at the slanders and libels committed against them by goons who make fathers the butt of ridicule when they can think of no other way to ginger up a gag.

They do not mind paying the bills and getting the short straw on all matters where someone must be the goat. They have looked over the situation from stem to stern and if this is what it takes to save the women and children, they will accept their lot cheerfully.

That's what they live for — to help women and children.

You won't lose her laughter, mister . . .

It will come again to you:

She'll be in the house up yonder

Calling for a hand for you;

All through life she was your booster,

At your side with buoyant joy;

In the audience above us

She'll be saying, "That's my boy!"

Ike Goes To Bat For His Program

Sees Legislation Vital To Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says his legislative program is designed to build the kind of national strength which will "lead us most certainly to a life that is secure and peaceful."

Going to bat for that program, the President also said in a speech yesterday that the proposals he has placed before Congress don't overstep the federal government's function or create a danger the people it government will become "merely busybodies."

Eisenhower set forth his views in an informal 10-minute talk at commencement exercises on the campus of 172-year-old Washington College in Chestertown, Md.

Before he spoke to about 3,500 under a scorching sun, he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree. An accompanying citation praised the President as a man who is devoting "his executive and diplomatic talents to the leadership of our country in a time of decision unparalleled in the world's history."

The President told his news conference last week that from then on he intended to turn what he called his exclusive attention to trying to speed congressional action on his program. This was his first opportunity since then to speak publicly for that program.

So far — with the target date for adjournment of Congress less than two months off — few of Eisenhower's proposals have been written into law. Many of them face rough sledding.

At Chestertown, Eisenhower said that in this day "It is perfectly necessary that the government do for us, and with us, many things that at one time in history would have been considered reprehensible to our form of government . . ."

Then he ticked off programs in the same fields he listed at last week's news conference — social security, agriculture, tax revision, slum clearance and housing.

He termed these "proper spheres for governmental action." But he cautioned that "because they come so close to the daily lives of every citizen, it is up to all of us . . . (to see) that all of that service is limited to what must be and need be, and doesn't overstep and get into something where they (the people) in government are being merely busybodies . . ."

Convict Woman Who 'Sold' Daughter, 13

CLEVELAND (AP) — A stout, middle-aged mother, who police said "sold" her 13-year old daughter's virtue for $20 a week and a basket of groceries, was convicted by a jury last night of neglect.

The man to whom the 46-year-old woman was accused of sending her daughter was "Papa" Joe Cremati, 57, operator of a reputed house of prostitution. Cremati recently was convicted of rape in the same case.

The child was found in Cremati's house last January in a police raid. Neither her name nor that of her mother has ever been published here.

According to Asst. County Prosecutor Dennis J. McGuire, the 13-year-old and five of her brothers and sisters frequently stayed over in the Cremati house. The girl had her own bedroom there.

Police Chief Frank Story made the statement about the woman "selling" her daughter for $20 weekly and groceries.

The mother has described Cremati as a "good-hearted man" who volunteered to help support her after her husband deserted her.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman deferred sentence on the woman until June 17. Maximum penalty would be a year in the workhouse and a $1,000 fine.

Rising Cocoa Price May End 5-Cent Candy Bar

CHICAGO (AP) — The 5-cent candy bar may become a treat of the past if the price of cocoa beans continues its rise, says the president of the National Confectioners' Assn.

Philip P. Gott said the price of cocoa beans, at present 70 cents a pound compared with 5 cents a pound in 1941, is forcing candy makers to decide whether to reduce the amount of chocolate in their products or raise prices correspondingly.

He said the problem heads the agenda of the group's 71st annual convention being held through Thursday.

Summer Slump?

Heck, no! He's been shopping with his wife!

People buy more in Summer than in most other months of the year!

Away on vacation? Heck, no! You can find 94% of the people at home at any time during June, July and August*—still shopping at a fast rate. Still reading newspapers. Still buying the things they read about!

As the famous retailer Bernard Gimbel said recently: "There is no excuse for reduced sales effort. The business is there if we go after it—all summer long."

*Based on studies by Curtis Publishing Co. and NBC.

DEC.	9.6%
OCT.	8.8%
MAY	8.6%
JUNE	8.5%
JULY	8.4%
AUG.	8.3%
SEPT.	8.3%
MAR.	8.2%
NOV.	8.2%
JAN.	7.6%
FEB.	7.2%

Percentages show how much of this total is absorbed by each month of the year. Only 3 other months outrank June, July, August.

SUMMER MONTHS get their full share of year's business—and more besides! 25.3%. (Source: Dept. of Commerce)

Sales are as hot as the weather!

People spend more money on merchandise in June, July and August than in most other months—as the chart shows.

Are you taking advantage of this?

Business leaders are capitalizing on this!

Mr. Gimbel says: "We're going after summer business because we feel that there are too many valleys between the peaks that have no reason to be there."

And he adds that summer business is "the most neglected, the most under-promoted area in our whole merchandising system."

Are you planning special summer promotion?

And they're using newspapers!

They know there's no summer replacement for the newspaper. People buy and read newspapers avidly all summer long!

If you haven't made big summer promotion and advertising plans, start now.

Back To Normandy

By HAL BOYLE

VOUILLY, France (UPI)—Everyone returning to Normandy this week felt bad about it. We had come to love the wonderful old chateau, and she had come to feel toward us, she said, as if we were her own grandsons.

With some soldiers it's a bridge they helped build, or a ravine that sheltered them under heavy fire, or a family that was kind to them when they were lonesome.

But to many of 42 war correspondents flown here by Pan American World Airways the thing they looked forward to seeing most was Grandma.

She is Mme. Alexandrine Hamel, 73-year-old widow and family matriarch of the Vouilly Chateau, which dates back to the 11th Century. During the first few critical weeks of the Normandy campaign, Mme. Hamel's Chateau served as press headquarters of the American First Army.

It was a trying, dangerous and anxious time for everybody. A number of correspondents got hurt, a few got killed, and they all got scared. But nothing could shake the calm of Grandma Hamel, a white-haired, apple-cheeked woman, merry-faced but showing always an air of inner strength.

The correspondents slept and ate in tents in a nearby cow pasture. They wrote their stories, however, and fought the Army censors in two rooms within the chateau.

Every night Mme. Hamel stood smiling in the background as her son, Dumilly, who had been a prisoner of the Germans three years, toured the work tables with glasses of milk and plates of cookies for the dusty correspondents. Ernie Pyle became a favorite customer.

When the war moved deeper into France and the press headquarters had to be moved on, both the correspondents and Mme. Hamel left. Then she left us for a few moments, returned and handed each a picture of the chateau on which she had inscribed in a fine old

Inside Labor

There is an impulse for decency and freedom in the "little people" before which we of the western world should bow in homage. This is a thing of shackles on the mind and the foot has just won for us a great military and propaganda battle on the Guatemalan front.

With their fists, the good people of these steaming jungles and banana towns have beaten back the heavily-financed, heavily-armed, scientifically-trained Comintern cadres which almost tore another Central American nation from our side.

It was done under the leadership of a man the world does not yet know. His name is Manuel Valencia.

He is always one such man in each beleaguered nation. If we help him, he beats back the Communist machine. If not—political charges, has under oath denied being a Communist.

The big statewide contest finds Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight opposed by Democrat Richard P. Graves, a political unknown until he entered the race. Both men cross-filed. Whether Knight can attract the heavy Democratic vote that aided the GOP's former three-term governor, Earl Warren, is an open question.

Another California contest, for the U.S. Senate, pits Republican incumbent Thomas H. Kuchel against Rep. Samuel W. Yorty, a Democrat who is vacating the House seat sought by Roosevelt.

An unknown factor in California races is a new system of identifying candidates by party. GOP leaders minimized the possible effect of this and forecast a Republican gain of four or more Congress seats. They now hold 19 of the 30 California seats.

During the campaign, both contended public school segregation should be continued, but they differed on methods of bypassing the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision rejecting school segregation.

Also to be elected are three other state officers, 132 state legislators and scores of county and local officials.

Asks Ohio Be Assigned More Narcotics Agents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — State Auditor James A. Rhodes said today he has asked Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey to assign more federal narcotics agents to Ohio.

Rhodes, Republican nominee for governor, said he wrote Humphrey in an attempt to "curb and eventually end" the narcotics traffic in the state.

The auditor said six federal agents are charged with enforcing narcotics laws in the state; more are needed.
